

Explore city breaks, activities...

Essential ski holiday advice

You're in control

We and our 253 technology partner(s) need your consent so that we and our trusted partners can store and access cookies, unique identifiers, personal data and information about your browsing behaviour on your device. This enables us to serve relevant content and advertising to you, and to improve the service that we provide to our readers. This only applies to telegraph.co.uk.

You can change your preferences at any time via the 'manage cookies' link, which you'll find at the bottom of every page. You don't have to accept, but should you not, you might not see adverts and content that are relevant to you.

To see a list of our partners and check how your data might be used, click or tap 'Manage' below. You can also review where our partners claim a legitimate interest to use your data and, should you wish, object to them doing so.

We use cookies and similar technologies for the following purposes

- Precise geolocation data, and identification through device scanning
Store and/or access information on a device
Personalised advertising and content, advertising and content measurement, audience research and services development

Essential cookies only

Manage

I Accept

Duty-free ski resort Livigno in Italy is worth the journey for those on a budget

Peter Hardy

26 November 2025 6:00am GMT